The Prodigal Sower -Bishop Robert Barron

God sows his Word into each of our hearts liberally. He does not solely give his grace to those he knows will bear fruit. He sows the Word in everyone, but it doesn't flourish for each person due to circumstances (secularism, anxiety, the allurements of the world), but strive to counter that by letting the Word open you to the implications of his Lordship. God is always giving himself to you, listen and act.

July 16: 15th Sunday in Ordinary Time

Is 55:10-11 / Rom 8:18-23 / Mt 13:1-23

In Jesus' parable of the sower and the seed, we realize that Jesus gives us what we need freely and liberally. We have so many opportunities to hear his word, but do we listen? It is so easy to get distracted by noise of our world and to let the word of the Gospel go in one ear and out the other. Like a farmer tills the soil to receive the seed, do we prepare ourselves to hear Christ's word? Can we carve out some quiet time to read the Gospel and pray with that Word? At Mass, can we listen attentively and perhaps remember one word or phrase from the readings? The Word of God is powerful and effective, but for it to affect us, we must engage it, grapple with it, discuss it and share it. Do not let the Word of God be sown in vain.

"One of the best ways to get happiness and pleasure out of life is to ask ourselves, "How can I please God?" and, "Why am I not better?" It is the pleasure-seeker who is bored, for all pleasures diminish with repetition."

Environmental Stewardship

"...all of us are linked by unseen bonds and together form a universal family..." (Francis 62) We are all interconnected and children of God. If you pull on one thread, the whole web is affected. Humans need to change their way of thinking from anthropocentrism (human-centered) to ecocentrism (nature centered). Being conscious and mindful of our consumerism behaviors is one way to develop a more ecocentrism mind. You can drive less and carpool more, waste less food and compost, and buy local and reduce your carbon footprint. All of these small changes add up. By being more connected with God and nature, we allow ourselves to see the bigger picture.

The Sower -Bishop Robert Barron

We have the special privilege of hearing Jesus himself interpret one of his parables. He tells us the three basic reasons why the Word is not accepted into our hearts: lack of understanding, lack of discipline, and lack of prioritization.
